

Dear TV: We Love You. You're Perfect. Now Change. (But Not Too Much.)

TV networks are making strides to digitize TV, but there are plenty of hurdles to overcome.

Why Snapchat's Spectacles Can Succeed Where Google Glass Failed

Shelly Palmer argues that Snap Inc.'s 'toy' could become glasses for the masses.

Meet Ad Age's 2016 Media Mavens

From Megyn Kelly to Sam Dolnick to Keith Cartwright, these are the media players making big moves this year.

The CMO's Guide to Virtual Reality

With the potential to immerse consumers in brands, VR could be a dream for marketers, but before experimenting you'll need a few questions answered.